

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

Calling all postgraduate students and early- to mid- career researchers (ECRs) in the medtech and brain health research spaces – we want you!

The CMDT Early-Career Researcher Awards are open to postgraduate students and ECRs (<10 years post-PhD excluding career breaks) engaged in research and development of medical related technologies and/or brain health research. Please feel free to pass this call on to those who may be eligible!

The Te Tītoki Mataora Forum held during Healthtech Week includes the Te Tītoki Mataora Research Day (Tuesday 27th June) which celebrates emerging researchers and new research frontiers.

This is a call for abstracts to apply to present a poster on your research. Research posters will be on display throughout the week, and presented for judging on Te Tītoki Mataora Research Day. The authors of the best abstracts will instead be invited to give a 3-minute elevator pitch of their research during the conference.

Whether you present a poster or elevator pitch, you have the opportunity to win cash prizes sponsored by CMDT!

Please note that if you are invited to present you will need to register for the conference. Access to Te Tītoki Mataora Research Day (Tuesday 27th June) only:

- Standard $150
- ECRs/students $100

Access to full Te Tītoki Mataora Forum (Monday 26th June – Thursday 29th June), if you register by 31st May:

- Standard $400
- ECRs/students $200

Registration is open now <https://healthtechweek.nz/>

How to apply

Submit 200-word abstracts to medtechresearchnetwork@auckland.ac.nz by 4pm Monday 8 May 2023. Please use the attached template. Only one abstract may be submitted per presenting author.

Selection process

1. A selection committee will review all submitted applications.
2. The committee will select the abstracts to be invited to give a poster or oral presentation at the 2023 Te Tītoki Mataora Research Day.
3. All applicants will be notified of outcomes and next steps by Friday 12 May 2023.

Please feel free to send any queries to medtechresearchnetwork@auckland.ac.nz

Note: we are able to fund a limited number of flights to Auckland to attend this conference and present your work.

If you are outside of Auckland, we will mention this when advising outcome and next steps.
